

CALL FOR ARTISTS

A NIGHT OF ART ABOUT POLITICAL DISCOURSE

WHAT:

A night of art and reflection on political dialogue and communication today.

Nov 8, 2017, 5–10pm, in Westlake Park, downtown Seattle: Between Americans will have a small installation reflecting on political conversations. It won't take much space, so we're looking for other artists to join us in filling up the park.

We encourage art and performances on any aspect of dialogue, including those that challenge our own project.

HOW:

No fee to participate. Self-funded projects are preferred, but we can look at crowdfunding options if needed. Art can be for sale—let us know if you intend to sell.

To submit your idea, e-mail info@betweenamericans.org anytime, the earlier the better. We're working out logistics continuously as a group.

WHO:

We're all still nailing down feasibility and logistics, so this list will evolve. Performers, photographers, poets, and artists currently anticipated to contribute work include: Coyote Central, Vincent Keele, Elise Koncsek, 7 Directions Architects, Mabel Baumgardner, Ludmila de Brito, Ching Ma, Branson Rideaux, Florence Yee, Sam Farrazaino, Annalisa Pao, Stephanie Velasco, Erin Fox, January Fredericks, Mount Analogue, and Adi Barreto.
